

THERE IS LITTLE CHANGE IN THE SITUATION TODAY IN BORDER DISTRICTS

REPORT AMERICANS ATTACKED LAST NIGHT WAS GREATLY EXAGGERATED—TROOPS PATROL THREATENED POINTS.

TROOPS RUSH SOUTH

Ambassador Wilson Makes Reports of Conditions in the Interior of Mexico As Quiet As Could Be Expected—Laredo Closed at Entry Port.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Feb. 25.—Ambassador Wilson at Mexico City will be permitted to continue to exercise his own discretion in dealing with the new Mexican government. It was stated today and some satisfaction is derived from his report that not only is the new government very friendly toward the United States, but that it has shown a disposition to meet reasonable requests for the protection of American interests in Mexico.

Peace Slow. Officials do not expect immediate restoration of peace throughout Mexico. It is recalled that the dominant party in that country now practically is a new one; unless indeed it can be considered a reincarnation of the old party of Porfirio Diaz. There is nothing in common between it and the revolutionists who for more than a year have been warring upon the Madero regime.

Offer Terms. Already President Huerta has been offering terms to the Orozco followers in the north with some degree of success. In negotiations are, however, that similar negotiations with the Zapatistas in the south have failed. The decision to begin a most active military campaign against that party has been announced.

Story Exaggerated. Brownsville, Texas, Feb. 25.—Today's investigation of rumors that Americans had been threatened in Matamoros, Mexico last night, showed that the stories circulated were exaggerated. A military commander levied on Mexican residents of the city to maintain his soldiers as protection against bandits. Americans, however, were not molested. While the rumors were in circulation Texas troops were ordered to the border.

Troops Sent. Laredo, Texas, Feb. 25.—The Texas ranger force received orders today to proceed to Brownsville, Texas. One troop of the 14th United States cavalry has left here for Brownsville, carrying equipment for thirty days' field service.

Diaz Influence. Mexico City, Feb. 25.—The revival of the Diaz influence in Mexico is indicated by an order issued by provisional President Huerta today that all portraits of former President Porfirio Diaz be restored to the places in public buildings from which they were removed by Madero.

Is Uncertain. Railroad communication by way of Laredo is still uncertain. No trains were able to get through yesterday owing to the burning of bridges near San Luis de Potosi. Communication with the United States by way of El Paso is possible, but trains arriving from that direction suffer considerable delay. There has been no interruption of traffic on the line between the federal capital and Vera Cruz.

Makes Protest. Washington, Feb. 25.—Senator Maurice Sheppard of Texas today made representations to the state department about what he considers the unprotective condition of parts of the Texas-Mexican frontier. Senator Sheppard recently sent telegrams to the Texas county judges along the Rio Grande river from El Paso to Brownsville and his statement to Secretary Knox today was based upon the replies.

More Troops. They contend for the need of more troops in two extended stretches of territory, one about 300 miles between Brownsville and Laredo and the other of almost as great length between Del Rio and El Paso. It was represented there has been much looting along the upper region and in one case a Texas ranch fifty miles from the border had been raided within the last few days.

Troops Delayed. Indianapolis, Feb. 25.—Inability to obtain railway coaches delayed the departure today of the 23d regiment, Col. Edwin P. Glenn commanding, from Fort Benjamin Harrison for Galveston, Texas, where they are to be held in readiness to invade Mexico should occasion demand.

Leave Leavenworth. Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 25.—At dawn today Companies G, H, and M engineer corps were ready to depart for Galveston in fulfillment of an order received last night. Officers of the corps expected cars to be supplied before night.

From Fort Sheridan. Chicago, Feb. 25.—The 1,200 men stationed at Fort Sheridan expected to be on their way to Galveston before noon today. It is expected the run to New Orleans will be made in 25 hours.

Minister's Statement. El Paso, Texas, Feb. 25.—Colonel David De La Fuente, appointed minister of communications in the Huerta provisional cabinet, arrived here today from the rebel camp below Columbus, New Mexico. He will proceed directly to Mexico City.

"Before accepting the position I will see what is to be offered the revolutionists of the north," Fuente said today. "We want peace, but we will see first what will be offered to make peace secure."

He had accepted a position in the Vasquez cabinet which later he declined in view of the Huerta offer. He was an officer in the regular army, in the Diaz regime, later joining the Orozco revolution as chief of artillery. Recently he has served as chief of staff to the rebel general Inez Salazar. He is under bond under the Vasquez Gomez indictment issued at San Antonio.

Give Information. Washington, Feb. 25.—The killing by bandits of Boris Corow, an American citizen last Sunday when three other Americans and a Spaniard escaped was reported here today with the information that Ambassador Wilson had requested the Huerta government at Mexico City to send troops for the protection of Americans in the vicinity of the disturbance.

Public Quiet. Ambassador Wilson's representation that public sentiment in the Mexican capital seems undisturbed by the killing of Madero and Saurez added that private and unofficial telegrams indicate the same situation with few exceptions throughout the republic.

Sends Troops. The government evidently suspicious of the loyalty of Gen. Carranza of Coahuila has refused to accept his forced adhesion and is sending troops against him. Volunteers in Chihuahua city are reported in arms against the new government. The state government has elected Rabago the military commander to the governorship to succeed Gov. Gonzales now in prison.

At Juarez. Consul Edwards who reports the situation at Juarez strained, says for military and civil officers continue to hold their posts. Madero sympathizers are said to be destroying railway property in the vicinity of Chihuahua city. No trains left there for the south yesterday morning.

At Nogales. Some excitement, but no disorder is reported from Nogales. Ambassador Wilson reports that John Kenneth Turner, the writer for whom fears were entertained is in no danger. John E. Chapman is reported safe at Pearson and Consul Shaukuin at Mexico City reports that H. B. Pond and family are safe, and that Dr. Harrison has left for Dallas, Texas.

Consul Attacked. Consul Garrett, telegraphed from Nuevo Laredo that he was yesterday attacked on the street because he had caused the arrest of criminals who were operating from saloons, and were robbing Americans.

Close Laredo. Mexico City, Mexico, Feb. 25.—The Mexican government today formally declared closed the port of entry at Laredo, on the Texas frontier at the same time admitting that the rebels were in possession of the town.

First in Field. Galveston, Tex., Feb. 25.—Company G, signal corps arrived in Galveston today, the first of the troops to reach here for mobilization. Following the signal corps train, loads of soldiers continued to arrive throughout the day.

Texas National Guards. Corpus Christi, Tex., Feb. 25.—The local Texas national guard company 56 men—left today for Brownsville under orders issued by Governor Colquitt last night. They were joined by a Houston Company enroute.

Go to Laredo. Palestine, Tex., Feb. 25.—The seventh Infantry U. S. A. and part of the 19th infantry which arrived here last night was ordered today to proceed to Laredo, Texas. These groups are equipped with machine guns and other artillery.

ALLEGED ASSAILANTS OF PRESIDENT-ELECT MADE PLEAS. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Trenton, Feb. 25.—Secley Davenport and Jacob Dunn, charged with threatening the life of President-elect Wilson, entered pleas of not guilty today before Judge Croff, in the United States district court. They were committed to jail without bail to await trial, probably next week. The men who were arrested last December in New Jersey while the president-elect was in Bermuda, are charged with having written letters to Mr. Wilson threatening that unless he forwarded them money they would take his life.

CLEVELAND POLICE CHIEF WAS SUSPENDED TODAY [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Cleveland, O., Feb. 25.—Cleveland's golden rule chief of police, Fred Kohler, today was suspended by Mayor Newton Baker. It is understood that he was first given an opportunity to resign, subsequently charges attacking Kohler's conduct were filed with the civil service commission. He is charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and with gross immorality. He denies the charges and will have a $14,000 in the Grandview block at an early hour this morning.

CHICAGO SALESMAN SHOT AT ATLANTA

Is Mysteriously Killed in His Hotel Room Where Body Was Found by Clerk—Wife Being Held.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 25.—J. A. Attebam, a traveling salesman from Chicago, was mysteriously shot to death in his room in a local hotel today. The body was found in the bath room of the Attebam apartments by a hotel clerk. T. P. Thompson, who said he had been called to the apartments, according to Thompson's story, as he started to climb the stairs to the second floor Mrs. Attebam rushed down and fell fainting into his arms. Thompson said he thought the shots were fired after Mrs. Attebam left her husband's room. Mrs. Attebam is held by the police pending an investigation.

HULL BILL PASSES IN ASSEMBLY TODAY

Measure Calculated to Prevent Cut-throat Competition Meets Favor in Lower House.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, Feb. 25.—The assembly today, by a vote of 84 to 4, advanced Speaker Hull's anti-discrimination bill designed to prohibit under-selling of commodities. A similar measure was advocated by Woodrow Wilson last fall for national enactment. Hull has pressed this measure in four legislatures.

The bill would prohibit the selling of commodities in one community for less than the same dealer sells the same kind of goods in other communities, due allowance being made for difference in grade and cost of transportation. The bill was opposed by the socialists who based their arguments on the theory that the state should own and not regulate the trusts.

Judge E. L. Hand and twelve other lawyers of Racine filed a petition in the assembly protesting against the passage of the Anderson anti-fraternity bill.

The Hurlbut assembly bill increasing salaries of legislators from $500 biennially to $600 annually, was ordered engrossed. Assembly bills advanced included:

Requiring individual towels in public places. For investigation of old age pensions. Limiting legislative session to 120 days. Forbidding marriage of second cousins or epileptics.

MRS. PANKHURST IS ADMITTED TO BAIL

Bond for $2,800 Signed for Suffrage Leader, Charged With Inciting Explosion at Lloyd George's Home.

Epsom, England, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, appeared in court here today charged with inciting others to place feloniously and maliciously explosive substances with intent to damage Chancellor Lloyd George's house at Walton Heath.

She was admitted to bail of $2,800 after promising to refrain from incitement, and not to attend public meetings while the case is in progress.

The only evidence taken today was that in relation to her arrest. The proceedings will be continued tomorrow.

Suffragists attempted to make a demonstration outside the police court, but they were greatly outnumbered by the townspeople who vigorously booed Mrs. Pankhurst as she passed into the building.

A REASSURING NOTE COMES FROM VIENNA

Austrian Premier Issues Statement That European Situation May Relax Very Soon.

Vienna, Feb. 25.—A reassuring statement on the European situation was made today by the Austrian Premier Count Earl Stuergh to a deputation of members of the Austrian parliament. He said:

"There is good ground for the hope that at no distant date a general relaxation of the present political tension will set in."

FIRE DESTROYS PROPERTY AT MANITOWOC TODAY [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Manitowoc, Feb. 25.—A fire of unknown origin believed to have been caused by crossed electric wires, caused a loss of from $7,000 to $14,000 in the Grandview block at an early hour this morning.

TWO EXPLORERS DIE IN ANTARCTIC LAND IS NEWS RECEIVED

Lieut. Ninnis, an Englishman, and Dr. Merz, Swiss, Die While Spending Winter Near South Pole.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Sidney, Australia, Feb. 5.—Two members of the Mawson Antarctic expedition, Lieut. Ninnis an Englishman and Dr. Merz, Swiss, have died. Dr. Mawson and six of his companions have been left for the winter on Adelle Land, a barren tract in the Antarctic because they were unable to reach the expedition's ship Aurora before she was compelled to leave. This news is received here by wireless from Adelle Land, via Macquarie Island.

The party left Tasmania in 1911 accompanied by a large body of scientific men to explore thoroughly the regions around the southern magnetic pole. Lieut. B. E. S. Ninnis of the famous Royal Fusiliers regiment was a close friend of Captain Lawrence Gates, of the Inniskilling Dragoons who perished while returning from the South Pole with Scott.

Dr. Merz, a prominent scientist and sportsman was the ski jumping champion of Switzerland in 1908. Lieut. Ninnis was the expert of the expedition on surveying and sledging. The wireless message hitherto received from the Aurora do not state the cause of his death nor that of Dr. Merz.

The expedition started out with the intention of exploring and naming the unknown lands of the Antarctic and making numerous observations around the magnetic pole. According to Dr. Mawson the principal objects of the expedition were attained.

Unfortunately Dr. Mawson and six of his companions after they had been picked up by the Aurora undertook another expedition and were unable to rejoin the ship which was compelled to leave them to spend another year in the Antarctic. Professor David, who was a member of Sir Ernest Shackleton's expedition received the following wireless dispatch from Adelle Land:

"Dr. Douglas Mawson and several of his men missed the Aurora which had gone to fetch them under the command of Captain J. K. Davis. Lieut. B. E. S. Ninnis of the City of London regiment and Dr. Merz who was ski champion of Switzerland in 1908 are both dead. All the others are well. Dr. Mawson and six other members of his party will probably winter on Adelle Land."

"Some very successful sledging expeditions were made during the sojourn of Dr. Mawson and his companions in the Antarctic."

The last previous message received here from the Aurora arrived February 17th and said that all the members of the expedition were on board the vessel. It would appear, therefore, that Mawson with some of his companions must have landed and gone on an expedition from which they were unable to get back in time to rejoin the Aurora before the ice compelled her to leave.

Wireless Message. Melbourne, Australia, Feb. 25.—Lord Denham, governor general of the commonwealth of Australia received a wireless message from Dr. Mawson today in which he says:

"Our sledging season has been very successful. We have opened up a large area of new land both east and west of Commonwealth Bay. We have obtained important new data from numbers of stations in close proximity to the magnetic pole."

The dispatch concludes: "It is probable that six of the staff of the expedition as well as myself may be unavoidably detained for another year in the Antarctic."

MORE MONEY IN HOGS THAN GROWING COTTON [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Greenville, Texas, Feb. 25.—A movement to interest more farmers in Texas in hog raising was initiated today at the annual meeting of the Texas Swine Breeders' Association, which is holding a two days' session in this city. Estimates showing greater profits in swine raising than in cotton culture were read and ordered published.

The Power of Your Penny. Not so long ago the best buyer was the man or woman who could "dicker." The buyer and seller spent hours in arriving at a satisfactory price. In those days the buyer could never be certain of the quality.

Advertising has benefited you in these two points, among other things. When you buy from THE GAZETTE advertisers you do not have to haggle about the price, nor worry your mind about the quality. Both are fixed, and the best to be had in the city.

The power of your penny is increased, and has a more certain value through your reading advertisements. By closely and constantly reading THE GAZETTE'S advertisements you can still further increase the buying power of your penny.

JAPANESE CRISIS IS LACKING SOLUTION

Political Situation at Tokio Still Remains in a Chaotic State.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Tokio, Feb. 25.—The political crisis in Japan brought about by the resignation of Premier Katsura has not been definitely solved, despite the formation of a new cabinet under Count Yamamoto. Prince Katsura's opposition at present is supported by the majority in the chamber of deputies.

The fact caused a further postponement of the reassembling of that body today until February 27th.

WINNIPEG BLOCK IS WIPED OUT BY FIRE

Fire of Unknown Origin Destroyed Large Area in Retail District Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 25.—Fire of unknown origin in the retail business section of the city early today destroyed one entire block doing damage of $200,000. CONTROVERSY OVER MOTHERS' PENSIONS Assembly Schnitzler of Milwaukee Takes Issue With Milwaukee Priest on Question.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Feb. 25.—Assemblyman John L. Schnitzler, champion of mothers' pensions, so-called, takes issue with Rev. Selden P. Delaney, dean of All Saints' cathedral, Milwaukee, in the latter's printed views on the proposed Wisconsin bill.

That plan, if enacted, will foster further improvidence, encourage women to lie, swell the ranks of wife deserters, increase the number of "tramps" among women, and encourage juvenile delinquency, as Dean Delaney averred.

It is believed by the sponsor of the mothers' pension bill, who declares it will have exactly the opposite effect.

Mr. Schnitzler is of the opinion that the term "mothers' pension" is a misnomer, the aid being intended primarily for the child and the bill making specific provision that it must be so used. Unworthy mothers may not be granted aid by his bill, which empowers the proposed county child protection agent to make careful investigation of each case to guard against wasteful bounty.

"Dean Delaney says the system will tempt mothers to lie. Here the state is absolutely protected," said Assemblyman Schnitzler. "Nor no matter how far they go in misrepresenting their need, the investigation required by the county agent will expose the truth and prevent aid being given to those unworthy of it. This is what the county agent is for, as provided in this bill. The ordinary county judge has little time to investigate such cases thoroughly, however well-meaning he may be. Neither have juvenile court judges. None of these officials, I dare say, will welcome any such extra burdens."

"Dean Delaney says the law would swell the ranks of wife-deserters. Our bill provides that no pension shall be granted unless the laws regarding desertion have first been fully enforced. This will safeguard the state effectually against any wasteful use of money. Neither will the law encourage juvenile delinquency. It will do just the contrary. Mothers will have time to stay home and look after their children. It cannot swell the ranks of 'tramps' because the bill provides a mother must be a resident of the state for two years and of the county six months before she is entitled to aid. This period may be extended to three years and one year respectively."

Mr. Schnitzler said the absence of this latter limitation is responsible for wasteful distribution of funds by Milwaukee county and in Chicago, where county systems are in operation. There, he said, women are encouraged to come from outside points and apply for a pension.

TAFT ASKS PAYMENT BE MADE TO PANAMA

Urges Appropriation in Special Message to House—Senate Passes Pension Bill—Injunction Measure.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Feb. 25.—In a special message to congress today President Taft urgently recommended the immediate appropriation of $250,000 for the first annual payment to Panama under the terms of the treaty by which Panama gave the United States permission to build the Panama canal. The senate today passed the $180,000,000 annual pension bill in the record time of twenty-five minutes, and with less than fifteen minutes' debate. It is the largest amount of any annual pension measure in the history of the government.

Secretary Knox today issued a formal announcement to the public that the income tax amendment is now a part of the constitution, having been ratified by more than three-fourths of the states.

Senator Crawford's bill to restrict issue of interlocutory injunctions to suspend state laws and orders of state administration boards, was passed today by the senate and now goes to the house. It proposes that all applications for such injunctions be passed upon by a commission of three judges, one a justice of the supreme court, one a circuit court. Temporary restraining orders could be issued when it was shown that irreparable loss would result to the complainant.

The house labor committee today reported the bill of Representative Peters of Massachusetts fixing an eight hour day for women workers in the District of Columbia.

COLD IS ARGUMENT TO PREVENT STRIKE

Patterson Silk Workers Declare Strike in Morning But Return To Machines Before Noon.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Patterson, N. J., Feb. 25.—Five thousand silk operatives and silk dyers went on strike at various mills today. More were expected to quit during the day, bringing the number up to 12,000. The strike was declared by the Industrial Workers of the World.

It was so cold here today that 5,000 striking silk operators who quit work this morning in various mills went back to their machines at an early hour rather than shiver in the streets. At 11 o'clock the mill owners said they were running with full forces. The strikers went out for an eight-hour day and a minimum wage of $12 a week.

TWO HARRIMAN LINES ORDERED DISSOLVED

California Court Declares Open Competition Must Exist Between Union and Southern Pacific.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] San Francisco, Feb. 25.—Open competition between the Union and Southern Pacific, the two great component parts of the Harriman system, and no favors from one to the other, because of their past connection are the only terms under which the California state railroad commission will approve the unmerging steps now being taken in compliance with the supreme court order for dissolution.

Cullom of Illinois and Crane of Massachusetts will be the most conspicuous absentees from the senate when the curtain rises on the extra session. Cullom was defeated in the primaries and Crane declined to be a candidate for re-election. Bailey of Texas has already withdrawn and Wetmore of Rhode Island, Guggenheim of Colorado, Burnham of New Hampshire, Briggs of New Jersey, Brown of Nebraska, Gardner of Maine, Paynter of Kentucky, Curtis of Kansas, Richardson of Delaware and Bourne of Oregon will step out at the end of the present congress.

In the new congress democratic senators will succeed republicans as chairmen of all the important committees of the senate. The prestige of the democratic party and the fate of the Wilson administration will turn largely on the use the democratic senators make of their new power. Whatever else may result, it is certain that the retirement of so many old leaders will have the effect of bringing to the front a number of senators who have heretofore been kept in the background, principally because they were on the minority side.

Senator Martin of Virginia probably will continue to be the recognized leader of the upper house. But other old-timers like Bacon of Georgia, Stone of Missouri and Simmons of North Carolina will certainly be found close to the head of the democratic council board. If he so desired Tillman of South Carolina undoubtedly could have the chairmanship of any important committee he might select, but the health of the South Carolina senator is extremely delicate, and his friends believe he hardly would dare attempt the grilling work incident to the chairmanship of one of the big committees.

Conditions never were more propitious for new men to make their mark, and senators like Hoke Smith of Georgia, Morris Sheppard of Texas, John W. Kern of Indiana, Luke Lea of Tennessee, James A. O'Govern of New York, Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas and a few others are bound to attract the notice of the country in the next few years.

WILSON ANNOUNCES HIS RESIGNATION

President-elect Gives Up His Position As Governor of New Jersey on Saturday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Trenton, N. J., Feb. 25.—President-elect Wilson resigned the governorship of New Jersey to take effect at noon Saturday, March 1.

"I shall have the pleasure of being a private citizen for just three days," remarked Mr. Wilson. "I think," he added, with a smile, "I shall celebrate the fact by turning a haudspring, just to show that I have no dignity of office to maintain."

MANY OLD LEADERS ENTER FINAL WEEK OF PUBLIC CAREER

"Uncle Joe Cannon" and Senator Cullom Among the Missing at Coming Session of Congress.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 25.—Many noted leaders of the senate and house today entered upon the final week of their congressional careers. When the sixty-third congress assembles in extraordinary session a few weeks hence there will be much about it strange to those who have long been familiar with the personnel of past congresses.

In the house the most conspicuous thing will be the absence of "Uncle Joe" Cannon. It is more than forty years since Mr. Cannon was first elected a member of the house, and he has occupied a seat in that body ever since, except during the term 1893-5. He has served as a member of the house longer than any other man that has ever occupied a seat there, and his service as speaker exceeded that of any other man except Henry Clay.

But Mr. Cannon will not be the only member of the house who will be missed after March 4. Daltzell of Pennsylvania and McCall of Massachusetts, who for years have been shapers of republican tariff policy, will be among the missing when Speaker Clark opens the sixty-third congress on order. The tidal wave in Illinois wrought notable changes. Among the members of the Prairie state delegation left out in the cold are George E. Foss, George A. Prince, William A. Rodenberg and William B. McKinley, the last named widely known as the chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee.

Other well known members of the house who will be relegated to private life one week hence are Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, James Needham of California, Ebenezer Hill of Connecticut, Edgar D. Crumacker of Indiana, George P. Lawrence and Butler A. Ames of Massachusetts, Martin W. Littleton of New York, Victor Berger of Wisconsin, who has been the lone representative of the socialist party in congress, William B. Wilson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on labor, and Arsene Pujo of Louisiana, chairman of the committee on banking and currency.

In the senate the changes will be marked by reason of the character of the men who are to retire and of the marked contrast in some instances between them and the men who will take their places. The republicans in the senate have suffered very serious losses, while the democrats have made a distinct gain in capable and energetic young men who will come over to the north end of the capitol from the house of representatives.

Cullom of Illinois and Crane of Massachusetts will be the most conspicuous absentees from the senate when the curtain rises on the extra session. Cullom was defeated in the primaries and Crane declined to be a candidate for re-election. Bailey of Texas has already withdrawn and Wetmore of Rhode Island, Guggenheim of Colorado, Burnham of New Hampshire, Briggs of New Jersey, Brown of Nebraska, Gardner of Maine, Paynter of Kentucky, Curtis of Kansas, Richardson of Delaware and Bourne of Oregon will step out at the end of the present congress.

In the new congress democratic senators will succeed republicans as chairmen of all the important committees of the senate. The prestige of the democratic party and the fate of the Wilson administration will turn largely on the use the democratic senators make of their new power. Whatever else may result, it is certain that the retirement of so many old leaders will have the effect of bringing to the front a number of senators who have heretofore been kept in the background, principally because they were on the minority side.

Senator Martin of Virginia probably will continue to be the recognized leader of the upper house. But other old-timers like Bacon of Georgia, Stone of Missouri and Simmons of North Carolina will certainly be found close to the head of the democratic council board. If he so desired Tillman of South Carolina undoubtedly could have the chairmanship of any important committee he might select, but the health of the South Carolina senator is extremely delicate, and his friends believe he hardly would dare attempt the grilling work incident to the chairmanship of one of the big committees.

Conditions never were more propitious for new men to make their mark, and senators like Hoke Smith of Georgia, Morris Sheppard of Texas, John W. Kern of Indiana, Luke Lea of Tennessee, James A. O'Govern of New York, Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas and a few others are bound to attract the notice of the country in the next few years.

Madison, Feb. 25.—Two battallions of the W. N. G. will constitute the present corps of the university corps of cadets if a bill to be drafted today for introduction in the legislature by Commandant P. V. Wrightson becomes a law. He wants to have the corps of cadets admitted to the national guard.

Sport Shop Shots by Dan McCarty

Here's one on Carlos Hall, twirler for the Boston Red Sox. Hall and Red Murray were sauntering past the grand stand in New York before the first game in Gotham.

"Gee, I guess I'm it," observed Carlos. "A girl up there just smiled at me."

"That's nothing," replied Red. "The first time I saw you I almost laughed my head off."

Jim Corbett says the funniest ring comment he ever heard was at the Pulitzer-Kaufman fight in New York.

"Kaufman, you're wanted at the telephone."

America will have no such easy time winning the next Olympiad as it had last year at Stockholm. Our friends across the sea are already preparing for the battle at Berlin in 1916.

Orvie Overall has decided to turn down an offer of $4,000 from the Chicago Cubs. This offer is $800 less than he asked and $200 more than he received from the same team when he quit baseball to go into business.

Young Jack O'Brien of Philadelphia will be leaving for Wales soon where he will meet Freddie Welsh, English lightweight champion, in a 20-round bout on April 2. A purse of $7,500, with a privilege of 60 per cent of the gross receipts, 75 per cent to the winner, has been offered for the fight.

Wonder what Indian Chouteau thinks of himself now. Chouteau is a Nashville pitching recruit and a southern exchange has this encouraging word to say about him: "Nashville has a real Indian pitcher. His name is Leroy Chouteau, and he hurls 'em wet. Manager Schwartz admits he is a bonehead, but thinks, maybe, he will learn." It must have gladdened Chouteau's heart to read this.

The followers of this fistic game in Paris are so confident that Billy Klains will lay it all over Frank Klaus when the two Americans meet in a Paris ring on March 5 that they are putting up their money 2 to 1 that he will get the decision. There is so much interest in the fight in the French capital that it is estimated the gross gate receipts will be close to $25,000.

GAME WITH RACINE MAY BE THE LAST

Roller Polo League May go to Pieces Following Contest Scheduled Here Saturday Night.

Racine will appear against the Janesville Moose Roller Polo team here Saturday night. This game has been arranged despite the waning interest in the league. Captain "Fritz" Reichert of the Racine team will bring his best players here to compete against the local team in hopes of clinching the lead. Racine is one game ahead of Janesville but Captain Kilmer and all the players express themselves as confident of beating their rivals, and if they do the two teams will be tied for leadership.

Reports from Milwaukee indicate that the Cream City team is about to withdraw. Mr. Reichert president of the league states that the interest of the Kenosha team is also at a low ebb and the Wisconsin Polo League is about to go to pieces. Manager Snyder and Captain Kilmer of the Moose team express themselves as confident that the organization will continue even if Milwaukee quits because they are unable to win a game.

Many other teams are willing to enter in the place of the Milwaukee team. Fond du Lac has a good team and several Chicago clubs have signified their intentions of joining. Rockford was to have had a team but up to the present time has done nothing in the way of organizing.

If the Racine team withdraws from the league later on to compete with some of the Indiana cities or joins the eastern league Manager Snyder will make arrangements for games with teams outside of the league but it is hoped other teams will fill the vacant places and the present conditions will be continued.

outcome are Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Madison, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Superior, Rhineland, and a few smaller towns where boxing matches have been staged with considerable regularity this winter. It is understood that many ring-side followers from some of these cities will be on hand for the hearing. At present boxing matches are permitted on a limited scale, but the sport is in a precarious position in this state and promoters are never certain of their ground when advertising a bout, past experience teaching them that a public protest backed by a sheriff's ultimatum may not be ignored with impunity.

OLD ROMAN TO SHOW BORTON HOW TO PLAY

It is reported from Paso Robles, Cal., where the Chicago White Sox are in training, that Charles Comiskey, president and owner of the Chicago club, has decided to play first base during spring training and set a pace for the recruits. The Old Roman has taken quite a fancy to Baker Borton, the young Western leaguer who made such a grand showing the latter part of last season, and has decided to give him some lessons.

Baldness and Intellect.
According to the statement of a professor in a German university the percentage of baldness among intellectual men is only two for musical men and sixteen for writers and others.

Birds Voracious Feeders.
As instances of the amount of food some birds consume, the Rev. C. T. Phillips, vicar of Ivergill, a well-known Cumberland naturalist, the other day found in the crop of a wood-pigeon he shot 140 beech nuts, whilst another wood-pigeon had devoured more finely-chopped trunp leaves than he could hold in the palm of his hand.

YOUTH NEAR DEATH UNDER CAR WHEELS

John Marks, Aged 14, of Allen Grove. His Right Arm Eadie Lacerated in Accident at Clinton.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Clinton, Feb. 25.—John Marks, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Marks of Allen Grove, formerly of this place, met with a very painful accident yesterday afternoon. He was on the C. M. & St. P. train from the east, due here at 2:58, and was on the front platform of the smoker when the train pulled into the station. Being in a hurry he did not wait for the train to come to a stop, but jumped off and in some manner slipped and fell under the train. His right arm was caught on the rail in such a manner that the flesh was stripped clean from the bone from elbow to wrist, and he suffered severe cuts and bruises about the head and face. The unfortunate boy was taken at once to the offices of Doctors Thomas and Parker, where his injuries were given the best of attention. The outcome is hard to predict at this time and the arm may have to be removed ultimately. After the doctors had dressed the wound he was taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Arthur Everhart, on North Church street.

The case is a particularly distressing one. The mother and two other children are sick in bed at Allen Grove and John was sent to Clinton after some supplies needed for the sick, which they could not get at the Grove.

Club Entertainment.
One of the most delightful social and musical treats of the entire year was the musicale given last evening by the ladies of the Twentieth Century club at the commodious home of the Misses Northrup on Main street. The following program was rendered: Reading—"A Musical Instrument"; Piano duet—"A Summer Night's Dream"; Mrs. Hatch, Mr. Helmer, Mrs. Herron, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Kizer, Mrs. Barrus, Mr. Herron, Mr. McKinney, Mr. Triggs, Mr. Helmer. Reading—"The First Settler's Story"; Mrs. Latta, Mrs. Herron. Vocal solo—"I Love You"; Sobeski. Piano solo—"Caprice"; Raff. Double Quartet—"Who Knows What the Bells Say?"; Parker. After the program delicious refreshments were served. Each member of the club (whose membership always numbers an even fifty) has the privilege of inviting one guest, and to be invited to this annual event is a treat all anxiously seek.

Personal Items.
Miss Martha Jacobson is afflicted with the pneumonia and her sister,

Nina, and brother, Julius, have the measles.

A. Vedder of Milwaukee was here Saturday to visit his daughter, Marion, and Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Herron, J. H. Greene and son shipped twenty-seven head of fine cows Saturday to one man at Algona, Ia. The reputation of this hustling firm has reached far beyond Clinton and tributary country round about and is the result of honest, square dealing.

Mrs. Hiram Cooper is not so well again.

Mrs. Guy Manley of Decatur, Ill., is here visiting relatives and friends. Several of our people were stranded in Beloit, Saturday evening, by the wreck on the C. M. & St. Paul near Porter.

Ray Best and Homer Latta represented the local rural mail carriers at Janesville, Saturday.

William Dooley, the Janesville auctioneer, was here Saturday.

Hard Job.

"Good gracious! What makes you look like that? Has anything happened?" "Well, I had my portrait painted recently by an impressionist, and I'm trying to look like it."

REFINED CRUELTY.

Women know, better than men, how cruel it may be to destroy letters which have not reached their destination. They wait, more than men, for the call of the postman. They set greater store on messages from absent relatives and friends. They understand, in the fullest degree, what bitter pain may be caused by the destruction of longed-for and sorely needed help sent through the mails.

It is with clear perception of these consequences of their acts that the suffragists in London and other British cities pour sulphuric acid and ink into mail boxes to obliterate addresses and envelopes and eat up the letters they contain. They cannot make any discrimination. They do not know whether they are causing trouble in business or preventing a husband from getting a message telling him to hurry to the bedside of a sick wife.
Friends of woman suffrage are as likely to suffer as its foes. There is no mercy for any class or party.

Modern man has read with horror of the cruelties of certain powerful women of ancient times. He has heard of the relentless savagery of later queens such as Catherine the Great of Russia and Catherine de Medici. But modern man has liked to believe that the women of his day were kind and considerate. He has told himself that they had nothing in common with his own cruelties and might well serve as the chosen guardians of the shrine of mercy and tenderness.

Even now he knows that this is so,
in the larger view, but he cannot quite overwork the refined cruelties of the women who wantonly destroy thousands of letters in London mail boxes because they don't like the policy of the government. Such incidents remind him that women are still the slaves of men and that daughters inherit something of the fierce power of fathers who stop at nothing to win their way, just as sons are often dowered with much of a gentle mother's tenderness.

MEXICO'S DILEMMA.

That Mexico is in serious straits is certain. That Madero and his followers met their death by order of the revolutionary committee, is believed by all. Even on the border line of Texas, at Brownsville, armed Texans are ready to cross the border to avenge insults to the American flag, while hastening from both directions government troops are ready to prevent any invasion of Mexican soil by an armed force of Americans. Truly civil war is near. The Mexican people are unsettled, revolutions and counter revolutions are current and it would not be surprising if the nations of the world would have to step in, restore peace and establish a stable form of government, if only to teach the people a lesson in peace. The Chicago Inter Ocean says:

"Anyone who has the curiosity to hunt up the matter in Woodrow Wilson's 'History of the American People' will find that he is pretty severe upon President Polk for ordering General Taylor forward to the Rio Grande and forcing the war with Mexico (1846) without consulting congress. 'Inexcusable aggression,' says
Mr. Wilson.

"This would seem to indicate that President Taft's apparent determination to let congress shoulder the responsibility for intervention is in full accord with the attitude of his successor—or was at the time the history was written.

"Incidentally, the Mexican war lasted a little over two years and American troops to the number of 112,000 were used. Mexico then had less than 3,000,000 people and was not in fighting trim. Now Mexico has about 15,000,000 people and apparently pretty much every adult able-bodied male is under arms.

"Query: How long would it take us now and how many soldiers would be needed?"

In electing C. P. Cury, as state superintendent, the voters of the state will make no mistake. He has demonstrated his ability and his opposition is coming from a political, rather than a non-political source.

Recall of the judiciary was the subject discussed last evening at the annual banquet of the Bar Association, and from the expression of opinion delivered there it is high time for the people themselves to thoroughly understand the question and demand that it be dropped immediately before serious damage is done.

The state law relative to public drinking cups appears to be a dead letter, as far as the legislature goes.
It is all right for the rest of the state, but glasses are found in the public drinking places in the capitol building openly displayed.

The mid-winter fair promises to eclipse any previous effort of the Commercial club and the displays will be of interest not only to the competitors
but also to the general public.

It is said that the Balkan states will demand a war indemnity of at least $350,000,000 from Turkey. It would take a vast amount of figs and Angora goats and old rugs to pay that bill.

At least it can be said for California's way of celebrating Washington's birthday that the Father of His Country was not only a fighter himself but an athlete of no mean order.

If the suffragists could know what London mail boxes contain only made letters their acid-and-ink raids would have more system and sense.

One of the Akron rubber presidents thinks that inflated stock prices have something to do with strikes. He has no monopoly of that opinion.

Mexico is doing much to make New Haven and a peaceful professorship look good to the president.

The Czar may be worried about the succession to his throne, but how about its foundation?

Mexico is called a republic; Bulgaria a kingdom. "What's in a name?"

The "Young Turks" have the same old bad luck.

Calvin Chilton,

Presbyterian Church,
Wednesday, Feb. 26.

Admission, 25c.

To prove that Mrs. Chilton is a pleasing entertainer, it is only necessary to say that she is a typical southern woman, beautiful in person, attractive in manners and with a voice whose cadences are like music. Being of southern blood, she thoroughly understands and appreciates the negro, and her impersonations were perfect when introducing the negro dialect in the fascinating stories by southern writers.—Chattanooga (Tenn.) News.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

*Its superiority is unquestioned
Its fame world-wide
Its use a protection and a guarantee against alum food*

The low-grade powders are made from "alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, which does not make the food healthful.

One pound of the low cost powders contains three ounces of alum, a mineral acid. Is it safe to put that on your pantry shelf along with cans of food ingredients?

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged.

Read the ingredient clause of label on the can. Unless it shows cream of tartar don't use the powder.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

From the Hickeyville Clarion.
What has become of the lady who used to grab the lines away from the driver? Oh, she's now screaming at her chaffeur and trying to grab the brake.

The wise man never tells a woman that he photographs flutters her.

A versatile and valuable wife is one who can make a new hat for herself by twisting the feather into a different angle.

Old Lem Stubbs sent Amie Hilliker
a bar of soap for Christmas. He says he tried to give useful gifts. Amie hasn't used it yet.

Matilda Hanks wants to take vocal lessons, but her old man says it ain't necessary, as she kin holler so loud now you kin hear her 'way down to the postoffice.

A feller ain't in style now unless he has got a belt on his overcoat.
Hod Peters says the best he has been able to get so far is a belt on the car.

It takes a mighty versatile feller to admire his own wife's clothes after the first year or two and make her believe it.

There is a tide in the affairs of men which taken at the flood, leads on to the Keeley Institute.

Whenever a newf's car sticks up, his tail hangs down and whenever his ears lay down his tail sticks up, which don't go to prove nothing in particular excepting that he is a good emblem for the Democratic party, which finds it pretty hard to be uni-mous about anything.

The police has got more individuality than almost any animal of which we know of.

The Village Sage.
Old Archibald Todd was the village
sage.

You couldn't fool him on a woman's age.

There wasn't a thing in the whole broad land
That Archibald didn't understand.

And no man above or below the sod
Ever knew so much as Archibald Todd.

There wasn't a prize fight e'er pulled off
That wasn't a cinch for this old toff.

He'd pick out a winner every time
In an off hand way that was quite sublime.

The only thing that would spoil his fun
Was the fact that the wrong man always won.

The weather was ever his strong forte.
He always "scooped" Uncle Sam's report.

When his left hind leg would acquire a pain
He would prophesy a good two days'
rain.

By the words of wisdom from Archie's mouth,
The whole town knew there would be a drouth.

Old Archibald lived long in the land
And ruled the country with tireless hand.

The folks all listened to his advice,
For it was really beyond all price.
For they were sure when advice he'd spring
They could safely bank on the opposite thing.

A Bushel of Potatoes

It is not enough for the farmer who raises a crop of potatoes to know the size of the potato crop in his own section, nor is it enough for him to know all about the potato crop for the entire country. He should be informed regarding all other crops, because the price he should receive for his potatoes is not based solely on the potato crop, but is influenced and affected directly by the volume and price of other farm products.

The Crop Report which this Bank issues each month, brings together the statistical compilations of all the various crop authorities, and aims to furnish the grower with exact information, as near as may be, regarding the volume and price of all crops everywhere.

grower and will be furnished without charge on re-

Tuesday, Feb. 25,
At Lyric, 4 reels, 10c,

Sarah Bernhardt in
"Queen Elizabeth"

When the Spanish Armada
lay in the Thames threatening to destroy England body and soul, Elizabeth and her court anxiously awaited news of the impending battle at Plymouth.
The long night of sorrow and suspense is past at last, and the news of the ruin of the Spanish fleet is followed by a wild gaiety and jubilation.

At the time of this scene in "Queen Elizabeth" Robert Devereaux, Earl of Essex, is the acknowledged favorite of the Queen and the pampered pet of her court. A new Lord Lieutenant is to be appointed to Ireland, and Essex obtains the coveted position. The scene shows the favorite's departure for Ireland.

There is a "But" in every man's life. Lord Essex admired his generous sovereign and appreciated her regard for him.
BUT—she was many years older than himself, and his affections have then turned to the Countess of Nottingham, to whom he comes to bid farewell before his departure. Fate enters the room with Essex, and Nottingham observes his young wife in his enemy's arms.

Bent on Essex's downfall the Earl of Nottingham accuses him of treason and deceit and when the Queen subsequently learns of his clandestine love for the Countess she orders his arrest and conviction. In the present scene, torn between her emotions, her wounded pride battling with her real desire to spare him, she yields to the jealous subtleties of her ministers and her own vanquished vanity and signs Essex's death warrant.

Lord Essex was brave, bold, courageous. Little wonder that as Queen Elizabeth watched him pass through the crowded street on his return from Westminster after his condemnation, literally walking to his own funeral, she sobbed in self-reproach and repentance, and realized, in the moment of his impending death, that his life was necessary to hers and its happiness.

From the day of Lord Essex execution, every hour brought Queen Elizabeth nearer the grave. The ghosts of the happy minutes of the past, when she lived in Essex's smiles, would steal into her memory and tear at the fulfury of her repentance.
The gaiety and laughter of the palace were succeeded by the sombre silence of a thing worse than death—hopelessness. Until at last the broken heart and the weeping soul found peace in the Final Rest.

CANDIDATES FILING NOMINATION PAPERS

S. B. Heddles, Joseph Baer and Edward Retheram Will Again Seek Office of Supervisor.

Five candidates for city offices have this morning filed their nomination papers with Clerk J. P. Hammarlund. S. B. Heddles will be a candidate to succeed himself as supervisor from the first ward, Joseph Baer will again make the run in the third, and Edward Retheram in the fifth ward. James Shearer will seek re-election to the office of school commissioner in the first ward. No nomination papers have as yet been filed for the position of School Commissioner at Large to succeed Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, Justice of the Peace to succeed Charles Lange school commissioner in the third and fifth wards to succeed Samuel M. Smith and James Thayer, and supervisors in the second and fourth wards to succeed M. P. Richardson and Joseph A. Denning. All nomination papers must be in by next Monday, March 3.

Voters must not forget that they must register in person on one of the three registration days to be held in March if they wish to vote at the spring election without being sworn in. A recent statute which provides for the registration prohibits the inspectors or election clerks from copying the names of voters from former poll or registration lists. The first registration day will be on March 10, the next on March 15, primary election day, and the third on March 25, the last day before election day.

It is estimated that the two registration days aside from primary election day will cost the city about $45 each. Three inspectors will be employed in each ward. Rent of the fourth ward polling booth with incidental costs will bring the cost up to about $50. The third registration will be included in the cost of the primary. Two clerks and two ballot clerks are employed in each ward on election day bringing the total cost of the election up to about $175.

COUNTRY DWELLING BURNED TO GROUND

House Belonging to Michael McKeren, Near Vest Park, Destroyed—Interurban Car Men Discover Fire.

Fire early this morning completely destroyed the residence in the town of Beloit owned by Michael McKeren. The house was situated on a knoll near the Interurban railway, three miles north of the city of Beloit, and the fire was discovered by the motor-man and conductor on the Interurban car which left this city at 6:10 o'clock. They at once stopped their car and notified the occupants of the house. The fire started from a defective fire in the garage and had obtained a good start when found. As there were no fire fighting facilities at hand, little could be done to save the house. Alfred McKeren, a son of the owner of the house was moving out, and another family moving in when the fire occurred, making it possible to save most of the furnishings. Two thousand dollars insurance is said to have been carried on the dwelling, which was valued at about $5,000.

EXONERATES PETERS BY HIS CONFESSION

John McCloud Says He Falsely Accused His Companion With Theft—Peters is Discharged.

Webb Peters, who with John McCloud, was arraigned in the municipal court yesterday morning on the charge of stealing a gold watch from Daniel McDonald, 635 Chestnut street, was discharged from custody this morning at the hour set for his examination. McCloud in a written confession addressed to Chief of Police Appley, exonerated Peters of the theft. He wrote:—"In my denial I endeavored to implicate Mr. Webb Peters who is an innocent as a new born baby." Investigation made by District Attorney Duwiddie confirmed the statement of McCloud and he moved that the charge against Peters be dismissed. Peters thanked the court for its action and remarked that he did not believe the man who had falsely accused him, was well either in mind or in body.

McCloud, who waived his examination, and whose trial was set for next Monday, wrote a confession of an unusual character that the officers are puzzled to decide whether he needs medical attention or punishment. He declares that he alone is guilty of the theft of the watch, and says that "God knows that in my right mind I would not do it. I am in ill-health. I believe my days are few. I am like a shadow. I am all in, down and almost out."

THE BANK OF EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Wis.
Founded 1870.
Geo. L. Pullen, Pres.

BAR ASSOCIATION AT ANNUAL BANQUET

dence in the judiciary and should be avoided.

At present there are two ways to remove incompetent judges, by the state legislature and by impeachment. In the history of our courts there have been but six or eight such impeachments, the speaker referring to the recent Archibald cases just decided by the United States senate by the removal of the judge in question. There are thousands of judges in the United States and their opinions are accepted yet at the last election some four million voters, tacitly agreed to advocating the recall of this wonderful judiciary body of men.

What would follow the enactment of such a law? The judge must be in office six months before subject to a recall. He is given five days to resign or stand his ground and is then permitted to print five hundred words on the ballot explaining his attitude and go on the stump and seek favor of the electors. No specific charge is necessary to bring this about, incompetency is all that is needed to be claimed. It tends to degrade the judiciary. Some might resist but the sword of Democles would hang above their judicial heads forever. They could no longer call the law supreme but justice enacted by will of the people.

In Wisconsin it has long been the pride of the bar and bench that the judicial officers were divorced from politics. This would be swept away at one fell swoop and the courts brought into political activity at once. It would degrade the popular ideals of courts and you would no longer find men seeking judicial preferment of the best calibre but rather scheming politicians. A judge would have to ascend the bench. He must give up his interest in politics, in making money and many of his personal pleasures. With the uncertainty of office under the recall, few men would want the empty honor.

Arguments in favor of the change state that only the weak judges, the incompetents, would be recalled, but Mr. Jones referred to the action of the state in the case of the late Judge Dixon, during the strenuous anti-bellum days, when he opposed the state right and how if the recall had been in vogue he would have been recalled when today the whole world admits he was right and a great war had been fought to prove it. Even he great John Marshall incurred the hostility of the people in the early days of our nation. With the recall the bench would be the storm center of politics. It would be hurled into the political maelstrom of office, the candidates would have to state their views to socialists, brewers, suffragettes, and suffragettes, stand patners and reactionaries. The symbol of justice would be that of a flirt competing with the populace for their approval. The laws keep pace with the times, the changes in the industrial world, demand legal changes and the courts keep pace with them. The laws of a hundred years ago are inadequate for today's proceedings and so the courts work their own salvation and that of the people. Mr. Jones closed his remarks by suggesting that one "to mark" by suggesting the present abuses of the judiciary, by the recall element, should be to strengthen the bench. To give the judges larger salaries, longer terms and uphold them rather than degrade them and bring the courts in disrepute by recalling the judges for petty differences.

Chief Justice Winslow was then called upon and made a few happy remarks that struck home to his hearers as he led up to the statement that each person should do something, worth while and that his movements should be in favor of good judgment. Justice Barnes was then called upon and heartily endorsed Mr. Jones' remarks, citing one case in particular where the public and the law were in conflict. He pointed out that in the majority of cases the charge that criminals escaped on technicalities was incorrect as they were released by juries who were chosen from the people themselves.

Justice Vinje was then called upon and reiterated the opinion of Mr. Jones, that the present movement was ill-timed and dangerous. He pointed out that the courts kept pace with the times, that twice a year all cases were cleared on the various court dockets of the circuits and supreme court and hence justice was not delayed but really often brought about settlements of the individual disputes through the temporary delays, giving the parties interested time to cool off and settle their differences amicably to the law. Dr. David Beaton was then called upon and expressed his interest in the question and his confidence that the American people would not be swept away by the whirlwind of prejudice.

At the conclusion of Dr. Beaton's talk Judge Sale arose and made a motion that Hon. Burr W. Jones, the speaker of the evening, Chief Justice Winslow and Associate Justices Barnes and Vinje, be elected honorary and life members of the Rock County Bar association without dues. The motion was carried and as Judge Vinje stated, "It would now be a necessity for the supreme court to attend the annual banquets as well as a pleasure." The banquet was in charge of a special committee of the bar association composed of Jesse Earle, Ray W. Clarke, and Henry Carpenter and these gentlemen deserve credit for their efforts. Among those present were:

A. E. Matheson, Alexander Galbraith, S. D. Tallman, J. J. Cunningham, L. E. Gattie, Edgerton; Judge Lange, T. D. Woolsey, Beloit; Fred Jones, Evansville; M. P. Richardson, H. J. PENNY POSTAGE LAW NOW BEING SOUGHT

Law Being Prepared Which Will Be Presented to Congress for Consideration.

One cent letter postage promises to be the next live issue effecting the post office department at Washington, according to Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, who is leading the campaign to secure a lower letter rate.

A new one cent letter postage bill has been introduced by Senator Burton in the senate and Representative John W. Weeks in the house, and active steps are being taken to promote its passage. The bill provides for a one cent rate by July 1 of this year.

"Without doubt the time has arrived when the people of the United States are entitled to one cent letter postage," declares Senator Burton. "The present two cent rate has been in existence since 1833, and no important changes have been made since that date, despite the fact that the population of the country has increased immensely, and there has been an astonishing increase in the amount of letter communication between our people."

"The most important reason why citizens of the United States are entitled to one cent letter postage is the fact that although we are charged two cents each for the carriage of letters it actually costs only about a cent apiece for the government to handle them. This results in the accumulation of a surplus of over $62,000,000 each year on first class letter mail.

"The post office department was never intended to be other than self-supporting. The government is entitled to sufficient compensation for the actual cost involved in carrying first class postage, but any rate which rolls up so enormous a surplus, is nothing less than a tax upon the users of postage stamps throughout this great country."

"In 1843, the rate of postage on a letter weighing one-half ounce or a fraction thereof, carried from the city of New York to Buffalo, a distance of less than 500 miles, was twenty-five cents. On October 1, 1883, the two cent rate became operative on letters weighing half an ounce or a fraction thereof. This rate, with slight changes, has existed for thirty years.

"In the meantime, the correspondence of the country has increased enormously and transportation facilities have improved in proportion. There is no question but that the government can carry letters for less than one cent, and make a profit."

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1912, the total government receipts from first class mail were about $175,000,000 which amount about $7,000,000 is estimated to have been clear profit to the department, thus demonstrating that the lower rate, which would vastly stimulate the growth of this class of mail, with a resultant further increase of revenue therefrom, would amply compensate the government, particularly as no reduction in postage on postal cards is contemplated."

"I have introduced in congress, a bill providing for the inauguration of one cent letter rate on July 1, next. This I have done upon the insistent demand of many thousands of people of all classes throughout the entire country. An organization known as the National One Cent Letter Postage Association, with headquarters at Cleveland, Ohio, has been formed to support the movement."

"The immense profits made on first class letters are a direct tax on every person who writes a letter. That this view of the situation is reasonable no one can doubt. In no other department of the government does such a situation exist—the reaping of an abnormal profit from a public service which is supposed to be merely self-supporting. Although all letters pay two cents apiece, only a very small portion weigh the full ounce permitted. They actually average over

"KUTE KIDDIES"

Of the splendid features with which Werba and Lusche's delightful new opera, "The Rose Maid" which comes to the Myers theatre, Wednesday evening March 5, is brimming with perhaps the most attractive of all the "Kute Kiddies" number. "The Rose Maid" is an opera for young folks, as well as old, and there are many features in it, besides the "Kute Kiddies" that appeal to the youngsters.

One scene which never fails to meet the approbation of the youngsters is the one which the great Sir John Portman wheels on a baby carriage and placing a toy rifle on the stage carefully aims at it with a toy pistol, while the rabbit mechanically hops across the stage. Then again, their youthful enthusiasm is aroused

SENATE COMMITTEES TO HAVE BUSY WEEK IN HEARING BILLS

Over a Hundred Measures Introduced In Senate Must Be Heard Within Next Few Days.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 25.—In the number of committee hearings scheduled the senate is a close rival of the assembly. Over a hundred bills were slated for consideration in committee this week. On Wednesday the committee on corporations will consider the Ackley bill compelling the use of lights on water crafts. On Thursday it will hear arguments on Senator Linley's joint resolution for investigation of the railroad passenger rates of the state. Senator Linley's resolution is calling for a one cent per mile fare.

Schedule of Bills.
On the same day Senator Linley's bill regulating political "machines" and political "conspiracies" as developed in a recent hearing in the Eber-McGovern controversy before the senate will be given consideration by the committee on education and public welfare of the senate. Senator White's bill prohibiting the commitment of minors to industrial schools for a longer period than one year is also slated for that day. On Thursday this committee will consider the Oregon primary election system for election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, and the Ackley bill for the removal of state officials by recall. There promises to be a lively argument over the A. E. Martin bill, relating the cold storage and the sale and disposition of food kept or preserved therein. This measure is aimed to curb the activities in cold storage houses in holding products in store for a longer period than six months.

On Judicial Practice.
An unusually large number of technical bills relating to judicial practice come up before the judiciary committee of the senate this week. Tonight the joint judiciary committee will hold a hearing over the Wilson bill for the creation of a new judicial circuit, to be composed of Adams, Lincoln, Sauk and Richland counties. The bill is intended to relieve Judge E. Ray Stevens of Madison from work. Senator Burke's bills for reforming the sanitary conditions of hotels and rooming houses are slated for hearing Wednesday afternoon. On Thursday afternoon the Kilson bill empowering county boards to fix the salary of sheriffs and prohibiting further compensation by fees will be considered.

The state affairs committee on Wednesday will consider the Martin bill which provides for the maintenance of guide boards on public highways and the True bills prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors within a mile of state parks. An interesting feature has just been discovered in connection with the True bill. Unless amended this bill would prohibit the sale of liquor by any saloon within one mile of the Capitol Square of the city of Madison.

On Thursday the committee on finance considers the Zophy bill, which provides that if there are any lands to be sold for taxes the state must purchase them.

Kill Minkley Bill.
Short work was made by the assembly last night with the Minkley joint resolution for a constitutional amendment denying the courts power to issue injunctions against public officials in their official capacity. The adverse vote was nearly unanimous.

The Philomathia Literary Society of the University of Wisconsin petitioned the legislature against possible extinction through legislation proposed in the Anderson anti-fraternity bill. This measure would abolish all secret organizations in the institution. Literary societies have a secret character.

The Smith bill appropriating $950 to Milwaukee county as bail erroneously paid to the state treasury was passed as were the Estabrook bill appropriating $1,500 to complete the erection of a memorial in the Vicksburg national park, the Allison bill allowing villages to appoint park boards and the L. L. Johnson bill authorizing John F. Berselinger to build a pier in the waters of Egg Harbor, in Door county.

Assembly bills No. 52, 92, 93, 1322, 200, 397, 208, 209 and 211 were killed in a row, following unfavorable committee recommendations.

On Fraternity Bill.
Judge E. H. Hand and twelve other lawyers of Racine petitioned against the passage of the Anderson anti-fraternity bill declaring it would cause a great reduction in the value of certain property in the city of Madison in which many people throughout the state are financially interested. They further declared it is unfair directly and indirectly to a large number of people throughout the state and entrench upon the personal liberties of a large majority of students at the university. The petitioners are E. B. Hand, D. H. Fleck, C. R. Carpenter, Guy A. Benson, S. L. Emmett, W. W. Storms, A. T. Erickson, Thomas Kearney, Jr., E. H. Burgess, Adolph R. Janesky, W. J. Flood, Vilas H. Whaley and Martin M. Huehner.

P. B. Swingle and twelve other residents of Racine county petitioned in favor of the passage of No. 262A, introduced by Mr. Everett, to impose a jail sentence for wanton trespass.

So few members were present in the senate last night that only a part of the calendar was considered. Senator Huber's bill providing an interchange of judges for the municipal courts of Dane county was advanced for third reading. The Teasdale bill validating certain railroad bonds was advanced, and as soon as this was disposed of Senator Teasdale moved for adjournment.

MILTON COLLEGE SOCIETIES SECURE MAGAZINE PRIZE

Will Receive $100 For Solution of Mystery Story of Means of A Mock Trial.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milton, Wis., Feb. 25.—The Every-body's Magazine offered $1,540 in cash prizes last fall to the various readers of the magazine and their organizations for the best solution of the mystery serial, "What Became of Jonathan Bryce?" that was running in the fall issue; the solution to be worked out in mock-trials based upon the evidence given in the story prior to the December installment. The contest was to be carried on separately throughout the United States and Canada. The judges were Charles S. Whitman, District Attorney of New York, H. C. Noble, counsel for the Butterick Publishing Co., New York, and J. B. Sheehan, counsel for the Ridgway Co., New York City. The Milton College students took considerable interest in the contest and the Miltonian and Orophilian Lyceums decided to enter the race; they held their trials in the college auditorium, December 14th, and sent on their solution and a flash-light photograph of the cast. Today word was received that they had been awarded first prize for Wisconsin. The official awards were as follows:

First prize $100.00—Orophilian-Miltonian Lyceums, Milton.
Second prize $50.00—West & South Side Young People's Socialist League, Milwaukee.
Third prize $25.00—South Side Improvement Association, Green Bay.

PARCEL POST HOW TO USE IT.

(The new parcel post law includes some perplexing provisions. The Gazette is from day to day presenting a concise explanation of some of the more important sections of the law).

Packages containing perishable articles must be marked "perishable." If such articles are liable to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery, they must not be accepted for mailing. Butter, lard and perishable articles such as fish, fresh meats, dressed fowl, vegetables, fruits, berries, etc., which spoil easily, must be properly wrapped to prevent damage, so that nothing can escape from the package. If this is done they will be accepted for mailing ONLY IN THE FIRST ZONE.

The Gazette Parcel Post Map gives the zone limits, rates and all the provisions of the law. It is a good Geographical map of the United States and for a quick comprehension of the parcel post law is invaluable. This map is now on sale at 25 cents, if called for at the Gazette office, or 35 cents by mail.

The map is FREE if you pay one year's subscription in advance to the Daily Gazette.

DINNER STORIES

"A sense of humor is a help and a blessing through life," says Rear Admiral Lullier. "But even a sense of humor may exist in excess."
"I have in mind the case of a British soldier who was sentenced to be flogged. During the flogging he laughed continually. The harder the lash was laid the harder the soldier laughed."

"What's so funny about being flogged?" demanded the sergeant.
"Why," the soldier chuckled, "I'm the wrong man."

A newspaper man was dining with the late Senator Jones in New York many years since, the evening papers being full of a shooting affair on the Riviera. A French gentleman had been killed by an annoyed American husband. Enter a supreme bore, unfriendly, but who joined the two full of the desire to lecture them upon the importance of "the American husband abroad"—the sentinel of the domestic virtues: "Let no man rifle that case-ket." For quite five minutes they endured this, when Jones caught the bore, the breath out of his lungs, and no more.

"What, shoot an unmarried man in his pajamas? We don't believe like that over on the coast. I was getting off the elevator at the Pacific Union Club in San Francisco last week with a friend of mine, luckily a man of nerve, when lo! a stranger with a gun said to my friend, 'You have got to die.' 'Die?' said my friend. 'Why, whatever is the matter?' Said the other, 'Since I have been over to New York you have been paying attention to my wife.' 'Possibly,' said my friend, 'but what is the name, please?' 'Hiram Kimball,' said the gun man. My friend produced a notebook with a lettered index and turning to K. said, 'Is it Mrs. Clara Kimball or Mrs. Grace C. Kimball?' Said the husband, 'It is sure enough Clara.' 'But,' said my friend, 'does the lady object?' 'No,' invited, but who joined the two full of the desire to lecture them upon the importance of "the American husband abroad"—the sentinel of the domestic virtues: "Let no man rifle that case-ket." For quite five minutes they endured this, when Jones caught the bore, the breath out of his lungs, and no more.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"I AM SORRY."

"I AM SORRY." That sounds like a very simple and easily spoken phrase, doesn't it? And yet I wonder if in all the English language there are any words that are harder to say than these three.

Unless, perchance, they be the three words "I was wrong." Mistakes are the commonest thing in the world. We all make them. To err is human, and even the most perfect folk err occasionally. While we ordinary mortals scarcely live through a day without one or more mistakes.

And yet how seldom we hear anyone acknowledging a mistake—and thus at least half atoning for it—by saying frankly and fairly, "I am sorry," or "I was wrong," or words to that effect.

"When my husband is unkind or unjust to me in any way he is usually sorry for it almost immediately," a woman said to me the other day in speaking of this matter. "And there's nothing he won't do for me the next few hours or days—the time depends on the size of the wrong, of course. He can't say and do enough kind things and he shows me in every way that he's sorry, but he never, never says it. Of course, I'm grateful for all the nice things he does, but somehow I give anything to have him acknowledge he was wrong and say he was sorry and didn't mean to hurt me."

I think we all know people who are like that, and I think we all feel in regard to them very much as this woman did. Kind words and deeds are healing salve for a hurt, but there is something about a frank acknowledgment of wrong that takes the sting and poison out of the wound as nothing else can.

Undoubtedly, there are people who think it shows strength never to acknowledge that they have erred. I know a man who frequently made just that boast. He considered it one of the strong points in his character; as a matter of fact, it was his greatest weakness. It antagonized his wife, it lost him friends right and left and it finally "got" him in his business career.

There is nothing that sounds more manly, or womanly, than to hear any one say frankly, "I am sorry," or "I was wrong." Learn to say "I was wrong," my boy. It will be just as valuable to you as a command of the negative.

Incidentally, don't forget to acknowledge a wrong when necessary to those to whom it is somehow hardest to say things like that, your nearest and dearest.

And one word more: If by any chance you are ever rebuffed, do not be discouraged in well doing. Remember that anyone who fails to receive your acknowledgment thereby transfers the burden of wrong from your shoulders to his.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Things Worth Knowing. Have always disliked washing my wire potato bakes until I tried greasing it before sticking potatoes on the pins. Now it is easy, as the grease prevents potatoes from adhering.

Fire From Oil.—Don't use water; it will spread the flames. Cast on flour or sand, or any woolen cover or carpet.

When popping large quantity of corn, try putting a double amount of shelled corn into a large meat roaster and pop a whole dishpanful at one operation.

To apply liquid hair tonic to the scalp, use the sewing machine oil can; or, better still, buy one and keep for that especial purpose. It puts it down to scalp without wetting the hair or wasting the tonic, which is oftentimes very expensive.

To Hemstitch On Machine.—Put thread as usual and baste them down to about the center of the loose threads and stitch with machine. Then you can slip hem back to place and will find your first row of hemstitching was very quick and evenly done. I then hemstitch the other side by hand, drawing the threads together as divided by the machine stitches. I find this way very satisfactory and it certainly is a time saver.

For Distemper. For horses: Four ounces ginger, half ounce camphor, four ounces salicylic acid, four ounces salicylic acid, one ounce gunpowder, four ounces sulphur, four ounces quassa, half ounce red persulfate, one ounce saltpeter, one ounce saltpeter.

Talks With Mothers

By Gertrude Stevers Ayres.

THE CRYING BABY.

A well trained baby cries persistently only when in discomfort. What is meant by "well trained" will be considered in future talks. Here again I would emphasize Madame Montessori's idea of "watch the child." Investigate the food first. If the mother is nursing the baby, have a sample of the milk analyzed by a competent doctor. He may find it too poor or too rich, either case causing disturbances in the digestive tract. If a formula for bottle feeding has just been put into use or any other radical change in diet made, it might be wise to consult a doctor, but only a fair trial has been given it.

Too many mothers lose their nerve at the slightest disturbance and too many fees are paid to doctors when judicious watching would show the mother that the remedy was already in her own hand. No woman should undertake the care of a child without a reliable scale and a clinical thermometer. These should be the tests of a child's physical condition.

If the child retains the food and the stools indicate proper digestion, the weekly weighing should be the indicator of necessity for change in food.

If the food seems to be all right investigate the clothing. A tight band, an outgrown shirt, a wet or soiled diaper, an unfastened pin may cause great discomfort. Too many clothing should be avoided as well as too little. In extremely hot weather all-woolen may be safely removed from immediate contact with the skin even in very young infants. I knew of one New England baby, eight days old, who by the doctor's orders had even the woolen band replaced by one of linen. Imagine how you would feel if dressed in wool with the thermometer at 35 degrees. If a safe guard against cold seems necessary a light woolen outer wrap or shawl might be used with very young infants.

Too hot or too cold a bath may cause crying for an hour.

A drink of water, warm or cold according to former experience, may bring comfort to child and mother.

A skin eruption or some local inflammation easily cured for a solution of boracic acid is often the cause of trouble.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the mother blames dentition for the persistent cry of her child while her ignorance or lack of perception is usually to blame. A healthy child has some discomfort at time of cutting teeth and is often irritable but the persistent cry seldom comes from that source.

Eyes, nose, throat, mouth, ears, hands and feet well examined, temperature found to be normal or nearly so, no indication of colic of other pain, change the child's position in the bed, shut the door and leave it for a little while. Don't on any account rock or even hold it unless searching for the trouble. Unless convinced that bad habits of nurse or child are the cause, do not allow the crying to continue too long but again investigate.

You will find in most cases the crying has long since ceased and the child is resting quietly.

Many Have Wondered. The Professor—"You say you are engaged in some original research upon what subject?" The Sophomore—"I'm trying to discover why the ink won't flow from my fountain pen unless I place it in an upright position in the pocket of a light fancy vest."

SECRETIONS AND CANCER.

Recent investigations have led to the conclusion that abnormal growth in adults is due largely to changes in the secretions. Many able authorities in England and Germany have held that cancer is directly due to failure of the pancreas or other gland. Pavlov has shown that complex diet requires complex secretions and the natural result must be weakening of the organs of secretion, which would lead to the result stated. Every disease has its local result or manifestation and its constitutional cause. It is admitted that local treatment is not a satisfactory remedy for cancer. The true cure consists in the removal of the cause. If complex diet is the essential physical cause, with degeneration resulting from abnormal mental conditions, the remedy is easily determined.

Rather Well Put.

Planning Meals.

I wish to follow up those menus from day to day so the housewife may know just what became of the rest of that "leg of lamb." I know there are many who do not believe in so-called "leftovers." Neither do I when it costs a great deal more in money and time to make it than a new dish. But I believe it is a saving of time and fuel to cook potatoes or rice for two or three meals, and they may quickly be prepared into delicious dishes.

Mother's Wrinkles And Children's Smiles

A PROMINENT minister has said, "Don't forget that the wrinkles come into your mother's face, while she is working to keep the smiles in yours; if she hadn't worn her old clothes so long, you couldn't have got your new ones so soon—love her all the more for it."

The world is full of wrinkled, care-worn mothers, and happy, smiling children.

The children should be happy and smiling; that is the right of every child. But need the mothers be so wrinkled and care-worn? And can't we all of us appreciate more than we do, these wrinkled, care-bowed mothers of ours?

Children rarely appreciate their mother at her full value. Perhaps this should scarcely be expected of them. As yet, they know little of the meaning of life. To them, it is not much yet but animal existence.

But as we get into our teens and early twenties, we are capable of appreciating. But do we do it, as generously as we might?

To this time, too, the mother has been looking forward as the season when she shall reap her reward. Does she get it?

Alas, in many cases, she does not; at least not in the full measure that is her due. The son and daughter love her, and in a great crisis, they show their devotion. But the great crises do not come often. Meanwhile, the days and weeks slip by; and in the hundred and one little things in which they could show their love and thoughtfulness, they are remiss.

They are busy with their own affairs—their studies, their work, their amusements, their friends. They rush home to eat and dress, and off they go again. They do not often stop to tell mother of their interests. They think she would not care to hear. If she consults them about a new dress or a new hat, they are not keenly interested. They rather side-step going shopping with her for her things. It rarely enters their head that she might like to go to the theatre, or a concert with them. All such things seem far away from mother, because she has always cooked and washed dishes and sewed their clothes; and they can't disassociate her from such things.

But probably she didn't do these things because she liked them; but because she loved her children, and took a joy in ministering to their comfort. The time has now come for them to turn about and do their share. And they should give her a cup of love, full measure and brimming over, and filled with all the same little things she did for them.

So, don't wait for her to fall sick, or to have some misfortune overtake her to show your devotion. But do a dozen and one little things every day that will delight her, that will be shafts of sunshine and flowers of happiness to fill her day with brightness and a deep, abiding joy. Knock at her door in the morning, and tell her to stay in bed, that you are going to get breakfast. Sneak into the kitchen, when she is not around, and fix some dish she especially likes. Take those work-worn hands out of the dish-pan, and with your arm about her waist, put her in the most comfortable chair, while you wash the dishes. Bring her home some pretty thing to wear, or the kind of candy she likes. Take her to a play, now and then, or on some little trip.

Then you will be repaying her to some extent for all she has done for you. You will be flooding her life with the joy that is rightfully hers. You will be giving her the harvest that belongs to her, for her patient sowing.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would like to get a remedy for some scars on my face which are very annoying to me. Can you help me?—H. O.

Scars are difficult to eradicate. Persistent and frequent massage with cold cream will make them less noticeable. Sometimes a dermatologist can remedy them, but the treatment is very expensive.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am in love with a young lady of my own years. At times she treats me very nicely, then again she treats me very indifferently, much to my embarrassment. I asked her for some explanation, and she said I should not be so "touchy." How can I find out the reason?—P. M.

(2)—How much income tax must I pay on an income of $1,100?—TRAVELER.

(1)—Do you want the girl to make the advances? If you are fond of her and wish to marry her, don't be a coward. Show her that you mean business. Take her to the theater, but not out the palm garden. She will like a cup of hot chocolate in a nice place, perhaps. Take her out with you as much as she will let you, and visit her as often as possible. When you have shown that, you think a great deal of her, don't lose any time asking her to marry you.

(2)—There is no tax on an income of that amount, though the legislature proposed to tax all income of $1,000 and more.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How shall I introduce a married man to a married lady?—BLUE EYES.

Say: "Mrs. Smith, allow me to make you acquainted with Mr. Jones."

FOR BELIEVED MARY: Don't worry, my dear. The young man seems to be all right and as long as your mother approves of him, and you tell her everything, you are on the right track.

We might go on and give you our menus for every day and they could not possibly fit into any other family. Since we started the husband has been called away out of the city, so a change must necessarily follow in planning of meals. The child has been of great consideration as at six years and until nine or ten comes a natural change in a child's development. In his case it was to bring better color, a keener appetite, natural sweets which every child craves but in the form of figs, dates and sugar in its proper form. This is absolutely essential to create the energy in a healthy normal growing child.

Recipes could be given for some of the above dishes. But all of it is simple food, carefully purchased, prepared and cooked with a correct idea of the necessary relation of heat in the cooking or baking. We have bought no rolls. Enough dough is made to last two or three days and kept covered in a cool place. When wanted shape and let rise in a warm place and bake in a hot oven.

Our little helper says she has gained much in the little things. This is one of them.

Package coconut may be made fresh and moist by wringing a cloth nearly dry from cold water or milk and wrapping the desired amount of coconut in it for an hour or two. Pat and press it occasionally and the flakes will be moist like freshly grated coconut.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—For several years I have known a certain girl with whom I would like to keep company. She is 20, I am 22. I meet her about once a week and she acts pleasantly when we are together, but I hate to make advances. Is it proper (as I know the family) to take her to a theater and a palm garden after the theater and get home about 11:30 P. M.?

(2)—How much income tax must I pay on an income of $1,100?

TRAVELER.

RASH ALMOST COVERED FACE

And Arms. Terrible Itching. Blistered Sores on Arms and Limbs. Could not Sleep. Used Cuticura Remedies. Entirely Rid of All Skin Eruptions.

Warrenville, O.—"I have felt the effects of blood poisoning for eighteen years. I was never without some eruptions on my body. The terrible itching caused me much suffering and discomfort, while the rubbing and scratching made it worse. Last spring I had a terrible breaking out of blistered sores on my arms and limbs. My face and arms were almost covered with rash. I could not sleep and lost nineteen pounds in five weeks. My face was terribly red and sore, and felt as if my skin was on fire. At last I tried a sample of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and I found them so cool, soothing and healing that I got some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Resolvent. I bathed with hot water and Cuticura Soap, then I applied the Cuticura Ointment every night for two months, and I am entirely cured of all skin eruptions." (Signed) Mrs. Kathryn Kraft, Nov. 28, 1911.

Cuticura Soap is best for skin and hair because of its extreme purity, delicate yet effective medication, and refreshing fragrance. It costs but little more than ordinary soaps, wears to a wafer and gives comfort and satisfaction every moment of its use, for toilet, bath and nursery. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

WONDERFUL PICTURES OF LIFE IN JUNGLE

Remarkable Scenes of Paul Rainey's African Hunt Shown in Program at Myers Theatre.

Wonderful and instructive motion pictures of all sorts of wild life as found in the jungles of East Africa by Paul Rainey and his hunters, were shown on the screen at the Myers Theatre last evening. A good sized audience was thrilled by the truly remarkable scenes which included the hunting of a leopard and a lioness, the trapping of such animals as the jackal and hyena, and other interesting and exciting events.

One of the most unusual pictures of the program was called the Water Hole. After considerable manipulation the photographer and his assistant finally succeeded in successfully obscuring themselves in a blind in a small tree a short distance from a water-hole in the jungle to which the animals came in large numbers for water. Scores of baboons ran to and from several rhinos came shuffling along to take their turn, and a fight between three or four of great ungainly animals followed. Several zebras, one a very thin fellow, appeared on the scene, and two giraffes came up timidly at first but with greater assurance when they see the rhinos at the hole, and take their drink. An elephant family is the next on the scene, and the film showing the mother and two small elephants playing and fighting at the water-hole is one of the most interesting of the entire series.

The picture of the lion hunt in which the dogs trained by Mr. Rainey succeed in overpowering the lioness, is one of the pictures which is filled with action. The detail and accuracy is little short of wonderful. The picture of the leopard hunt is equally as good. In this case too the dogs are again in evidence, and their work in driving their quarry from the top of a tree to the ground where he is once pounced upon is shown with amazing clearness.

Other interesting features of the pictures might be dwelt upon. There are films showing the various natives, pictures showing the various droves of antelopes and gazels, pictures of the ostrich farms, and many others. It is a program which every parent, teacher and child in school ought to see. The spectator is left in doubt as to none of the details for a lecturer gives an interesting and adequate account of the program.

The program will be repeated this evening and Wednesday evening with machines today and tomorrow.

Salves Can't Cure Eczema

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on. Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a fluid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients combined in the D.D.D. Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 50-cent bottle will start the cure and give you instant relief.

We have made fast friends of more than one family by recommending to try this D.D.D. Prescription to a skin sufferer here and there, and we want you to try it now on our positive pay guarantee. D.D.D. Soap keeps the pores clean; ask us.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE YAWN.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE YAWN is a polite method of expressing enmity without trying to pronounce it. It is produced by throwing the head back and allowing the mouth to assume a neat oval shape, like the top of a vinegar barrel.

Yawning in public is frowned down upon by our society leaders, who usually retire behind a fan before starting a yawn on its upward course.

Sometimes, however, the yawn becomes a justifiable weapon of defense. A blunt-headed, swivel-tongued auditor, for instance, will not be disturbed in the least when father enters the parlor, winds his watch and pulls down the shades, but the sight of a six-inch yawn spreading with cat-like tread over the face of his inamorata will cause him to reach for his hat. On this account, the art of yawning in a distinct and aggressive tone of voice should be taught in our public schools.

There is a great deal of surreptitious yawning done in the sanctuary about the time the minister begins to enter upon the last thirty minutes of his discourse. This is an ungainly habit and leads directly to the claustrophobia snore, which is one prolonged yawn with megaphone attachment.

People who yawn in church and look around the room while doing so ought to be labored with by the vestry.

The yawn is sometimes accompanied by the stretch, which is a form of relaxation caused by throwing the arms and legs in opposite directions, meantime curling up like a house cat. This is a vulgar pastime, and when indulged in at the table is liable to fill somebody's lap with a section of the meat. Nobody who stretches in public ever gets higher than the gum-chewing set.

Refined people never use the yawn except for admonitory purposes. It is a handy article, however, when a late caller fails to hear the town clock, and will probably be kept waiting reach for some time to come.

SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

Two Women Tell How They Escaped the Surgeon's Knife by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn. — "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the Change of Life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles." — Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

Baltimore, Md. — "My troubles began with the loss of a child, and I had hemorrhages for four months. The doctors said an operation was necessary, but I dreaded it and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The medicine has made me a well woman and I feel strong and do my own work." — Mrs. J. R. PICKING, 1260 Sargent St., Baltimore, Md.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

Mustard's Quick Relief Without the Blister!

You remember the good, old-fashioned mustard plaster.
Your mother and your grandmother used to apply it whenever you had a cold, an ache or a pain.
It burned like sixty, but it surely did the work.

Here is the old family remedy, greatly improved by science and put up in Twentieth Century form.

The quick and blessed relief without the blister of the mustard, or the bother and muzziness of the plaster.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. For MUSTEROLE, the oil of the highest grade of mustard is refined until it is as pure as human skill can make it.

You simply rub it on the spot where the pain is—rub it on briskly—and the pain is gone.

Not a blister is left even on tender skin! Instead it has a delicious, comforting effect.

You don't have to spread MUSTEROLE on a cloth. Just apply it with the finger tips.

You don't have to bind on a cloth. MUSTEROLE is so penetrating that it goes right through the pores at once.

And there is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Frost-bites, Cuts of the Feet, Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute. If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the Musterole Company, Cleveland, Ohio, and we will mail you a jar, postage prepaid.

Mrs. James Horlick, West Philadelphia, Pa.—"My four-year-old son had severe bronchitis. I found Musterole the best thing I ever used."

The STOLEN SINGER

by MARTNA DELLINGER

Copyright 1913, THE DOUGLAS-MERRILL COMPANY

"Ask me that," snapped the doctor. "When no man on earth could tell whether she'll come or not. She says she won't. She's hurt and she's out of her mind. At least she thinks she is. But if you could get her to think that it was her duty to take care of that poor boy in there, she'd come fast enough."

Agatha was puzzled. She felt as if there were a dozen ways to turn and only one way that would lead her right; and she could not find the clue to that one right way. At last she attacked the doctor boldly.

"Tell me, Doctor Thayer," she said earnestly, "just what it is that causes Mrs. Stoddard to feel hurt and out of her mind. Is it simply because I have inherited the money and the house? She can not possibly know anything about me personally."

The old doctor thrust his under jaw out more belligerently than ever, while turning his answer over in his mind. He took two lengths of the room before stopping again by Agatha's side and looking down on her.

"She says it isn't the money, but that it's the slight Hercules put upon her for leaving the place, our old home, out of the family. That's one thing; but that isn't the worst. Susan's orthodox, you know, very orthodox; and she has a prejudice against your profession—serving Satan, she calls it. She thinks that's what actresses and opera singers do, though how she knows anything about it, I don't see. The grim smile shone in the doctor's eyes even while he looked, half anxiously, to see how Agatha was taking his explanation of Mrs. Stoddard's attitude. Agatha meditated a moment.

"If it's merely a prejudice in the abstract against my being an opera singer, I think she will overcome that. Besides, Mr. Hambleton is neither an actor nor an opera singer; he isn't 'serving Satan.'"

"Well," the doctor hesitated, and then went on hastily, with a great show of irritation, "Susan's a little set in her views. She disapproves of the way you came here; says you shouldn't have been out in a boat with two men, and that it's a judgment for sin, your being drowned, or next door to it. I'm only saying this, my dear Miss Agatha, to explain to you why Susan—"

But Agatha was enlightened at last, and roused sufficient to cause two red spots, brighter than they had ever been in health, to burn on her cheeks. She sat up very straight, facing Doctor Thayer's worried gaze, and interrupted him in tones ringing with anger.

"Do you mean to tell me, Doctor Thayer, that your sister, the sister of my mother's lifelong friend, sits in her house and imagines scandalous stories about me, when she knows nothing at all about the facts or about me? That she thinks I was out in a boat alone with two men? That she is mean enough to condemn me without knowing the first thing about this awful accident? Oh, I have no words!"

And Agatha covered her burning face with her hands, unable, by mere speech, to express her outraged feelings. Doctor Thayer edged uneasily about Agatha's couch, with a manner resembling that of a whipped dog.

"Why, my dear Miss Agatha, Susan will come round in time. She's not so bad, really. She'll come round in time, only just now we haven't any time to spare. Don't feel so badly; Susan is too set in her views—"

"Set!" cried Agatha. "She's a horrid, unchristian woman!"

"Oh, no," remonstrated the doctor. "Susan's all right, when you once get used to her. She's a trifle old-fashioned in her views—"

But Agatha was not listening to the doctor's feeble justification of Susan. She was thinking hard.

"Doctor Thayer," she urged, "do you want that woman to come here to take care of Mr. Hambleton? Isn't there any one else in this whole countryside who can nurse a sick man? Why, I can do it myself; or Mr. Van Camp, his cousin, could do it. Why should you want her, of all people, when she feels so toward us?"

The moment his professional judgment came into question Doctor Thayer slipped out from the cloud of embarrassment which had engulfed him in his recent conversation, and assumed the authoritative voice that Agatha had first heard.

"My dear Miss Agatha Redmond, that is foolish talk. You are half sick, even now; and it requires a strong person, with no nerves, to do what I desire done. Mr. Van Camp may be his cousin, but the chances are that he wouldn't know a bromide from a blister; and good nurses don't grow on bushes in Illinois, nor in Charleston, either. There isn't one to be had, so far as I know, and we can't wait to send to Augusta or Portland. The next few days, especially the next twenty-four hours, are critical."

Agatha listened intently, and a growing resolution shone in her eyes.

"Would Mrs. Stoddard come, if it were not for what you said—about me?" she asked.

"The Lord only knows, but I think she would," replied the poor, harassed doctor. "She's always been a regular Dorcas in this neighborhood."

"Dorcas!" cried Agatha, her anger again flaring up. "I should say Sapphira."

"Oh, now, Susan isn't so bad, when you once know her," urged the doctor.

Agatha got up and went to the window, trailing her traveling rug after her. "She shall come—I'll bring her. And sometime she shall mend her words about me—but that can wait. If she will only help to save James Hambleton's life now! Where does she live?" Suddenly, as she stood at the window, she saw an opportunity.

"There's Little Simon down there now under the trees; and his buggy must be somewhere near. Will you stay here, Doctor Thayer, with Mr. Hambleton, while I go to see your sister?" "Haden't I better drive you over to see Susan myself?" feebly suggested the doctor.

bury. Doctor Thayer returned to the sick-room. Ten minutes later he heard the wheels of Little Simon's buggy rolling rapidly up the road in the direction of Susan Stoddard's place.

CHAPTER XIV.

Susan Stoddard's Prayer.

There was a wide porch, spotlessly scrubbed, along the front of the house, and two hydrangeas blooming gorgeously in tubs, one on either side of the walk. The house looked new and modern, shiny with paint and furnished with all the conveniences offered by the relentless progress of our day.

Little Simon had informed Agatha, during their short drive, that Deacon Stoddard had achieved this "residence" shortly before his death; and his tone implied that it was the pride of the town, its real treasure. Even to Agatha's absorbed and preoccupied mind it presented a striking contrast to the old red house, which had received her so graciously into its spacious comfort. She marvelled that anything so fresh and modish as the house before her could have come into being in the old town. It was next to a certainty that there was a model laundry with set tubs beyond the kitchen, and equally sure that no old horsehair lounge subtly invited the weary traveler to rest.

A cool draft came through the screen door. Within, it was cleaner than anything Agatha had ever seen. The stair-rail glistened, the polished floors shone. A neat bouquet of sweet peas stood exactly in the center of a snow-white dolly, which was exactly in the middle of a shiny, round table. The very door-mat was brand new; Agatha would never have thought of wiping her shoes on it.

Agatha's ring was answered by a half-grown girl, who looked scared when she saw a stranger at the door. Agatha walked into the parlor, in spite of the girl's hesitation in inviting her, and directed her to say to Mrs. Stoddard that Miss Redmond, from the old red house, wished particularly to see her. The girl's face assumed an expression of intelligent and ecstatic curiosity.

"Oh!" she breathed. Then, "She's putting up plums, but she can come out in a few minutes." She could not go without lingering to look at Agatha, her wide-eyed gaze taking note of her hair, her dress, her hands, her face. As Agatha became conscious of the ingenious inspection to which she was subjected, she smiled at the girl—one of her old, radiant, friendly smiles.

"Run now, and tell Mrs. Stoddard, there's a good child! And sometime you must come to see me at the red house; will you?"

The girl's face lighted up as if the sun had been brought down to earth. She smiled at Agatha in return, with a "Yes" under her breath. Thus are slaves made.

Left alone in the cool, dim parlor, so orderly and spotless, Agatha had a presentiment of the prejudice of class and of religion against which she was about to throw herself. Susan Stoddard's fanaticism was not merely that of an individual; it represented the stored-up strength of hardy, conscience-driven generations. The Stoddards might build themselves houses with model laundries, but they did not thereby transfer their real treasure from the incorruptible kingdom. If they were not ruled by aesthetic ideals, neither were they governed by thoughts of worldly display. This fragrant, clean room bespoke character and family history. Agatha found herself absently looking down at a white wax cross, entwined with wax flowers, standing under a glass on the center-table. It was a strange piece of handicraft, its whiteness was suggestive of death, not life, and the curving leaves and petals, through which the vital sap once flowed, were beautiful no longer, now that their day of tender freshness was so inappropriately prolonged. As Agatha, with mind aloof, wondered vaguely at the laborious patience exhibited in the work, her eye caught sight of an inscription molded in the wax pedestal: "Brother." Her mind was sharply brought back from the impersonal region of speculation. What she saw was not merely a sentimental, misguided attempt at art; it was Susan Stoddard's memorial of her brother, Hercules Thayer—the man who had so unexpectedly influenced Agatha's own life. To Susan Stoddard this wax cross was the symbol of the companionship of childhood, and of all the sweet and bitter involved in the inextinguishable bond of blood relationship. Agatha felt, more kindly toward her because of this more, fantastic memorial. She looked up almost with her characteristic friendly smile as she heard slow, steady steps coming down the hall.

The eyes that returned: Agatha's look were not smiling, though they did not look unkind. They gazed, without embarrassment, as without pride, into Agatha's face, as if they would probe at once to the covered springs of action. Mrs. Stoddard was a thick-set woman, rather short, looking toward sixty, with iron-gray hair parted in the middle and drawn back in an old-fashioned, pretty way.

It was to the credit of Mrs. Stoddard's breeding that she took no notice of Agatha's peculiar dress, unaltered as it was to any place but the bedroom, even in the morning. Mrs. Stoddard herself was neat as a pin in a cotton gown for utility, not beauty. She stood for an instant with her clear, untroubled gaze full upon Agatha, then drew forward a chair from its mathematical position against the wall. When she spoke, her voice was a surprise, it was so low and deep, with a resonance like that of the "cello. It was not the voice of a young woman; it was, rather, a rare gift of age, telling how beautiful an old woman's speech could be. Moreover, it carried refinement of birth and culture, a beauty of phrase and enunciation, which would have marked her with distinction anywhere.

Tuberculosis Remedy Based on Medicine

To say that a specific exists for the cure of Consumption is perhaps too strong a statement, but in Eckman's Alternative we have a medicine that has been the means of saving many a life to years of usefulness, and in permanently benefiting a large number of Consumptives.

Certainly a person afflicted with a wasting disease should be well fed with wholesome, nourishing food, but frequently raw eggs in quantities cause a digestive breakdown, and then no food nourishes. As for milk, a very good food for many, but a product of thousands for some. Any diet that keeps a Consumptive well nourished is the right one, but what is going to improve the patient? Eckman's Alternative has brought about full recovery in many cases of Consumption. Let those speak who know. Here is one:—

St. Savannah St., Rochester, N. Y. "Gentlemen: On June 3, 1907, I was operated upon for Tubercular peritonitis at St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester, N. Y. After the operation my physician gave me up as hopeless. I was then urged by a priest to take Eckman's Alternative, which I did. My weight at the time was 72 lbs. I began to improve and steadily gained in health and strength. I now weigh 125 pounds, and am absolutely well. Believing I owe it to myself and others, I make this statement."

(Signed) ADOLPH EDNA FINZER. Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in debility of the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa. for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, February 25, 1873—Suicide: On Sunday morning, (Thomas) Chapin, of the town of Union, shot himself through the body with revolver. His intentions seemed to be to send the bullet through his heart and thus produce instantaneous death, but by a miscalculation the missile penetrated below that organ, Chapin lingered until yesterday afternoon, when the sought for death ended his sufferings. He was twenty-three years of age and was formerly of this city. The cause of his rash act we have not ascertained.

The oratorio of the laymakers, which is to be given at an early date, with a well balanced chorus of picked singers and to the accompaniment of a good orchestra, is now in preparation. No pains are being spared by the persons having the matter in charge to make this one of the most meritorious musical entertainments ever placed upon the Janesville stage. Mrs. S. S. Judd has executed a handsome painting and placed it on exhibition at the post office, where it is attracting general admiration. It presents a party of mounted hunters engaging in subduing a grizzly bear, and it is so true to life that many children have been frightened out of the postoffice—thinking it was a genuine bear in a cage.

Too Late.
"Ah," sighed the unhappy bigamist, "that I had obeyed that biblical injunction, 'No man can serve two masters.'"

Pertinent Question.
Misses—"Jane, we are going to have company for dinner, and I want to speak to you about the cooking." Maid—"Yessum; are they your relatives or your husbands?"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.
